

Fishing 101

Ken Addington - Lake Fork Guide

Do you want to become a better angler?

Private Water Fishing is hosting a class for (20 total) members and guests to hone their fishing skills. The class is designed for the angler who wants to learn the basics of bass fishing. The class is perfect for a father/son learning opportunity. Does your 15 year old son know more about bass fishing than you? Are you looking for ways to spend more time with your children, but do not know the difference between a Carolina Rig and a Texas Rig? Come join us.

Ken Addington, former Lake Fork Guide, will teach all participants the fundamental skills of Bass Fishing. Students will enjoy instruction, participation, Famous Hutchins BBQ and on lake demonstration. Think of your child, spouse or friend who wants to learn how to fish and bring em' with you.

RSVP is due by Monday April 2nd. Only 8 spots left.

New Property!

Decatur - Waterboo Lake

Private Water Fishing is excited to announce a new property, Waterboo Lake in Decatur, Texas! You can be at the gate from downtown Dallas, in 1 hr. 15 min., or from downtown Fort Worth, you can make the drive in 1 hr. or less.

This 10 acre lake is nestled in an isolated valley of a small mountain. There is a long arm that runs several hundred feet into the mouth of two dry creeks. This arm has a 5 to 7 foot deep channel that runs the length of the arm. The lake has depths to 12 foot and the deeper water is on the cliff side. This lake is perfect for anyone wanting to camp. There is a single 110V outlet for anyone needing electricity. You will likely have no cell service here. A new 12 ft. Tracker Topper 1236 aluminum jon boat has been added as well; please provide your own trolling motor, battery, and anchor to operate.

You will need a small SUV or something with more than a car height clearance to navigate a usually dry stream bed during your 2.7 mile drive to the lake.

Big bass at Waterboo!
